Property

This amazing house ranked by Architectural Report as one of the top seven home designs in the world in 2004 sits on 2,400 acres of rolling grasslands just west of Marfa fronting on scenic Pinto Canyon Road. This property has a conservation easement with The Nature Conservancy and can be split into three tracts with three headquarters in the future. The home sits on one of the highest hills in the area and commanding views of the surrounding area including, the Davis, Chinati, Sierra Viejo, Puertocitos, Haystack, and Cathedral Mountains

This property is part of a million acre Chihuahuan Desert Grasslands called the Marfa Grasslands and is home to many species of birds, both raptors, songbirds, and upland game birds as well as Pronghorn Antelope and Desert Mule Deer. The Peregrine Fund has been active in the past in restoring the Aplomado Falcon to this yucca grassland.

There are several pastures and new fencing as well as a water distribution system that provides water for livestock and native wildlife. There are several pasture roads for access as well as a oil topped runway which is the main entrance that is over 6,000 feet long and could be used for prop planes or small jets. Pinto Canyon road is a 35 mile long ribbon of asphalt meandering toward the famous Pinto Canyon and its scenic vistas. This road leads to Chinati Hot Springs as well as Chinati State Natural Area soon to open to the public.
