Subject: FW: Flood Insurance Inquiry - 2622 Stagecoach, Dripping Springs, Texas

Jeff,

Thanks for sending this over for our team to look at.

While the property itself does indeed fall within flood zone A, the slab of the home sits above the flood point at it's current elevation listed on the elevation certificate provided by the homeowner.

It is still strongly recommended and may be required that any future owners or tenants of the property purchase a flood policy.

Thank you,

Hayden Fuchs
