Use

With

new ownership in 2019 the production has been increasing with better farming practices. Heavy tower pruning was conducted in 2021 and lighter tower pruning was conducted again in February 2022, which has promoted excellent growth. Production should continue to increase over the next few years until max production is reached for the foreseeable future.

In addition, all of the parcels have underground power and have been set up as home sites. Some of the neighboring parcels have been built out to custom homes. This could be an option a future owner could take advantage of.
