

The Lowe and Edgerton families gather beneath the bluff's 300-year-old landmark oak, opposite. The dining table, this photo, made from planks of wood from an old bowling alley, is the spot for lunches. Mismatched chairs were collected from a handful of Texas markets and shops.