INVESTMENT DESCRIPTION

An exceptional opportunity to acquire a 160-acre stand-alone tract of top-performing farmland in the heart of Adams County — available individually or as part of a larger 480-acre portfolio. This property combines above-average agricultural productivity with compelling long-term development potential, positioned within an area experiencing steady residential growth and increasing land absorption.

Featuring favorable topography, county-maintained road frontage, and nearby utility access, the tract offers a clear path toward future subdivision into 20- to 40-acre ranchette-style homesites — ideally suited to the expanding demand for low-density rural residential living near the Denver metro corridor. The A-3 Agricultural District in Adams County is intended to preserve and promote large-scale agricultural operations while accommodating limited rural residential uses, allowing for a density of one residence per 35 acres.

Post-subdivision comparables in the immediate area are averaging $7,500+ per acre, offering investors a highly attractive return profile relative to current agricultural land values and development costs.

PORTFOLIO PRICE: $2,700,000 for 480 Acres

AREA OVERVIEW

East of Denver International Airport, the Adams County land market is rapidly transforming under “aerotropolis” growth—airport-driven expansion in logistics, residential, and industrial development.

The airport’s 39-gate expansion has increased capacity by nearly 30%, fueling long-term employment and infrastructure investment along the I-70 and E-470 corridors.

Major projects like the Aerotropolis Parkway interchange and Port Colorado are unlocking new access and development opportunities, while the Colorado Air & Space Port adds an aerospace and advanced manufacturing hub just seven miles from DEN.
